

New frame on the way

Posted At : November 12, 2007 5:20 PM | Posted By : Erik Voldengen

Related Categories: Bike

I just talked to BBC head cheese Phil Sanders about my cracked frame. In all his years, he's never seen a frame fail like that (I might add that this isn't the first time he's said that about something I've broken).

Phil also informed me that Giant and Bike N' Hike came through, and new frame is on the way.

Giant even requested the broken frame be shipped for examination, ~~because I don't think they've ever seen one break like that.~~ [edit] of course they have, what am I thinking...

So far this 'cross season, I've broken a frame, fork, and stem. Hopefully, that's enough for one season.

With luck, I'll have my good bike back for Hillsboro!